A GREAT REVIEW OF VOLUNTEER TROOPS

IBY CABLE TO THE DISPATCH. LONDON, June 27 [Copyrighted] .- It has been ascertained that serious fear prevails in high quarters as to the reception which will be accorded to the German Emperor and the Prince of Wales when they ride in state through the Guild Hall on the 10th of July. Englishmen have no particular love for the Kaiser, and there are Germans in London who yearn for a chance to howl at him without running the risk of being sent to prison for high treason, which would be the cost of easing their feelings in Berlin. This is theoretically a free country, and howling is not a statutable offense. This soothing fact has taken possession of the German Socialists and French Anarchists, who have found a safe asylum in England, and intelligence has reached Scotland Yard which leaves no doubt that hostile demonstrations are being organized against the imperial visitor. London Republicans and Radicals have also resolved to utilize the occasion for giving expression to their views respecting the pacearat scandal, so that it is considered impossible for the day to pass without "incients." So far as Englishmen are concerned the demonstration will not take a form more serious than an occasional hiss along the route, and Scotland Yard has orders not to sit upon the Radical safety

The Foreigners Will Be Watched. But some concern is felt and expressed as to the intentions of the foreign extremists, and the men believed to be really dangerous are to be specially watched during the whole time that the Kaiser is in the metropolitan district. The work has been inrusted to the officers and men who acquired experience in the days of the dynamiters, and who are to all intents and purposes political police. Although the maintenance of such a body is supposed to be quite foreign to the English detective system, these men are to be reinforced by a party of detectives from Berlin, and as an additional measure of precaution, the services of some

French experts have been secured. The Kuiser has already offended thousands of honest folk in this country by selecting Sunday on which to visit the naval exhibition. The Workingmen's Lord's Day Rest Association, one of the numerous societies which undertake to look after the morals of Englishmen, has been particularly shocked at the young Emperor's impiety. It has caused questions to be asked in Parliament on the subject; has obtained signatures to a formal protest to be sent to the exhibition council, and talks of petitioning Queen Victoria to exercise her grandmotherly influ-

No Respect for Sabbatarians. But the imperial programme has not been changed and is not likely to be to please such common people as workingmen. The members of the Lord's Day Rest Association are evidently not aware that the Executive Council of the Naval Exhibition have broken the Sabbath every week since the show opened, by giving select garden parties and in other profane ways entertaining their friends. Lord Salisbury, England's Prime Minister, will not only condone the Salebath-breaking exhibition, but will actually show his contempt for the Sabbatarians and formalisms generally, by entertaining the Emperor at Hatfield the same afternoon.

The sanctity of the Lord's Day will be flouted in a most conspicuous manner and upon a gigantic basis. Hundreds of invited guests will be conveyed to Hatfield in special trains. The Emperor will hold a reception in the afternoon; a great garden party will follow, and in the evening there will he a grand banquet, at which more royalties will be present than have ever gathered to gether in an English nobleman's house in modern times. Prodigious efforts are being made on all sides to give pleasure to the imperial visitors.

A Grand Volunteer Review. But the display from which the Kaiser will derive the greatest amount of enjoyment will undoubtedly be that which himself suggested, namely, a review of the volunteer troops on Wimbleton common on Saturday afternoon preceding the Sabbath break-up. England's volunteer force numbers over 200,000 men, whose value as a military factor has never yet been tested in actual warfare. A sample of the 200,000 will be submitted to the Kaiser's critical inspection, and his judgment is looked forward to with immense interest, not unmixed with apprehension.

Attended by General Von Hahnke, Gen eral Von Wittich, Baron Lucanus, Count Eulenberg, Baron Von Marshall and Countess Brockdorff the German Emperor and Empress will arrive in the Thames, on board the Imperial vacht Hohenzollern, on Saturday, July 4, and will be met by some saembers of the royal family. They will at once be escorted to Windsor, where several apartments have been prepared for them in the castle. The Queen has deputed Major Generals Sir John MacNeill and Sir Henry Elwart and Colonel the Hon, W. Carrington to attend them during their stay in England.

On the following day the Queen, the Emperor and Empress, the Prince and Princess Wales, Prince and Princess Christian and other members of the royal family, and the Duke and Duchess of Anhalt, will atPrincess Louise, of Schleswig-Holstein, which takes place at St. George's Chapel, and in the evening there will be a dinner party in the palace. Honors for the Royal Visitors.

On Wednesday, July 8, the royal visitors will attend Prince Christian's garden party at Cumberland Lodge, thence proceeding to London for the "command" performance at the Royal Italian Opera. Mr. Harris intends this to be an unique spectacle, surpassing anything before seen at Covent Garden. The central boxes in the grand tier will be thrown into one, the saloon converted into an ante-chamber, and the staircase and corridors lined with yeomen of the guard and soldiers. Carte blanche has been given to numerous West End florists, and the whole house will be one mass of flowers, with ice blocks to enhance the effect. The subscription list will be suspended, and the best boxes will cost 20 guineas, stalls 6 guineas and other seats in proportion. Levee dress will be "derigueur" in boxes and stalls.

Mr. Harris proposes, should the Queen and Prince of Wales approve, to invest the programme with a symbolical character appropriate to the event. Thus the opening item will most likely be the first act of "Lohengrin," which includes a welcome to the German King on a visit to foreign shores; while the concluding selection will probably be the last act of "Die Meistersinger," typifying the crowning and gloriprobably be the last act of "Die messer-singer," typifying the crowning and glori-fication of German art. Tickets, despite the high prices, are already at a premium. On Thursday, the 9th, their imperial majesties will hear the "Golden Legend" at the Albert Hall. The 10th will be devoted to the visit to the Guild Hall.

IBY CABLE TO THE DISPATCH.] LONDON, June 27 .- A reporter who spent an extremely pleasant afternoon at Brighton as the guest of Mr. Parnell, has arrived at the conclusion that that gentlemen is a very happy man and that few people really know little about hen apart from his position as a political leader. Whatever the world may think of his marriage to Mrs. O'Shea and his pretent position, Mr. Parnell is fairly coaheat with the present condition of his life. He is fortunately able to find compensation in political disappointments in the pleasures of his home, his many scientific pleasures of his home, his many scientific pursuits, and above all, as he told your correspondent, in the endeavor to find means to alleviate and if possible remove the causes which impede the industrial development of Ireland. He hopes to interest his countrymen and the friends of Ireland in Arcerica in the last named subject, and also to clear up the misunderstandings as to his own position and intentions when he visits the United States next autums.

There is really a remarkable change in Parnell's appearance. The anxious look

Parnell's appearance. The anxious look whigh has made his face seem drawn and melancholy during the recent months has quite disappeared. He is cheerful and happy, and looks more like a prosperous gentleman, contented with himself and the gentleman, contented with himself and the world, than the much-badgered political. leader. Mr. Parnell is happy with his wife and completely in love with her. That was shown in his many references to "my wife," as he invariably spoke of her, and the care and pride with which he showed me many photographs of her. Those that have been published have not done anything like justice to the lady. She is a handsome brunette of wonderfully animated and place in counterpare, and she hear her 40 years of age very lightly.

Mr. Parnell's study clearly indicates his tastes. Everywhere are books on science and scientific appliances constantly used by this fighting politician for research and amusement. Metallurgy, geology and astronomy are his chief delight. He makes his own assays of the ore found on his own property in Ireland, from which he gets iron and no inconsiderable quantity of gold and silver. He has said that he intends in the future to devote himself chiefly to the development of the industrial resources of Ireland, and he examines ore from all parts of the country in order to ascertain where minerals can be profitably worked.

COFFEE AND CIGARETTES

Indulged in by Fair Authoresses at a Blo Literary Ladies' Dinner. [BY CABLE TO THE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, June 27 .- Mrs. Frank Leslie and her diamonds, according to all the newspapers, formed the most striking feature of the third annual "literary ladies' dinner" at the Criterioa on Wednesday. The dinner was a great success in other respects as well. Mrs. Louise Chandler Moulton made an address. Mrs. Leslie delivered a poem, and dress, Mrs. Leslie delivered a poem, and the English literary ladies responded to toasts, read articles and recited poetry likewise. Mrs. Emily Crawford, the Paris correspondent of the Daily Nows, who presided at the dinner, suggested that the title of "Literary Ladies," with its reminiscences of Mary Wortley Montagu and the "precieuses ridicules," be abandoned, and the title "The Scribblers" be adopted. Mrs. Leslie disapproved, however, and suggested "Sorosis," but no decision was arrived at.

BELLE BILTON'S DETERMINATION.

THY CABLE TO THE DISPATCH.) LONDON, June 27.-The Earl of Clancarty is just now in a state of great exhaustion, consequent upon the mental exertion required in an examination of his late father's affairs. Had it not been for the help rendered by his keen-witted wife (Belle Bilton), it is probable that the noble Earl would have collapsed completely. The Countess is rapidly acquiring the airs of the grande dame, and is anxious, if the world will permit, to banish the past. If polite should flout her, she is equally prepared to defy the world; to have a me with her old friends, and to install her father, the Woolwich gunner, and her other relatives in her husband's ancestral hall. Her interesting sister, Flo Bilton, has been promoted on the musical bulletins from "Sister to Lady Dunlo" to "Sister to the Countess Clancarty," and her money

[BY CABLE TO THE DISPATCH.] LONDON, June 27 .- A Monarchist journal in Paris presents this rather touching picture of the Empress Eugenie as she appeared during her recent visit to France, explaining that this is the first long visit the Empress has paid since France was at her feet. The writer says: She complains no longer, and she neither weeps nor mourns. For hours together she emains without talking and traverses lowly, as if there were some cavalry at Flourens, ex-Minister of Foreign Affairs of France, during the course of an interview, in which the ex-Minister admitted the existence of a Franco-Russian alliance. M. Flourens declares that while he held the office of Minister of Foreign Affairs diplomatic notes equivalent to a treaty were exchanged between his Govern-ment and Russis, and that these notes ar-ranged for common action by the two coun-

M. Flourens, who has just returned from Moscow, where he met the Czar, adds that the formation of this alliance is the work of the formation of this alliance is the work of the Czar himself. These statements, appearing simultaneously with the Bismarckian articles in the Hamburgar Nachrichen, enlarging upon the danger of a too close friendship with England as offensive to Russia, have evoked indignant replies from the semi-official press, in which the Salisbury Government is openly spoken of as an alley of the Dreibund. This allusion represents the official belief that within a recent period Lord Salisbury has become a party to a secret convention, committing his Government, so long as it remains in power, to concerted action with the Dreibund.

CINCINNATI, June 27 .- Considerable of a ensation has been caused among members of the Christian denomination in this city and Northern Kentucky over the announce ment that the Rev. John A. Javne had decided to leave the pulpit for the stage. Javne has been regarded as one of the coming orators of his denomination. He has ing orators of his denomination. He has been pastor of the rich Christian Church at Falmouth, Ky., for a year, and was expected soon to become a Cincinnati pastor. He was widely known throughout Northern Kentucky, and was constantly in demand for lectures and to dedicate churches.

Jayne, it appears, has been preparing for this step for some time. It is said that some years ago he was a member of the pro-fession. He is a fine elecutionist, has a commanding figure, and will play heroic parts. He is about, it is said, to marry a oung lady of great wealth ember of the Clay family.

When asked about his prospects he said he would have a practically solid delega-tion in the West and had received assurances of support from many portions of the State. It was too early to count noses, however, where only a few delegates had as

Congressman Robinson's Ambition "Why is Jack Robinson making such a rigorous fight for the Presidency of the League of Republican Clubs?" asked a gen-tleman yesterday of one of the warmest sup-porters of the Delaware county Senator-Con-

"If we win he will be a candidate for the United States Senate in 1893," was the an-

The secret has leaked out, says the Record. that Congressman Robinson is playing for the highest stakes in the State in this contest, and if he wins the League Presidency he will buckle on the armor for a battle royal with Senator Quay, Congressman Dal-zell and others in the next Legislature. He is making the fight ostensibly as a Quay man and against Chris Magee. But Robinson claims that in both the contest for State Senator in 1889 and for Congressman in 1890
he fought it out single-handed without Quay's help. The Quay people think they

WASHINGTON, June 27.—A good deal more work is being done now in national politics than generally appears on the surface. Both parties are now working very actively, but quietly, through their club organizations, and the campaign of 1892 is actually in progress. Without regard to the rivalries of the several candidates for nominations, the leaders in each party are doing their best to make the organization strong enough to insure success, whomever they may put on the ticket.

The campaign in Ohio is regarded as all-important, and it will be conducted with the energy of a national campaign. Mr. Clarkson is working the Republican League of Clubs for all there is in it, and the Demo-crats are probably not behind in their work crats are probably not behind in their work in a similar way. Two or three months ago the temporary headquarters of the National Association of Democratic Clubs was established at the Metropolitan Hotel, in charge of Lawrence M. Gardner, Secretary of the association, and it is proposed to make Washington the permanent national headquarters. The Republican permanent headquarters are in New York, but Washington has many advantages over that city, both in quarters are in New York, but Washington has many advantages over that city, both in the way of facilities for getting information for educational campaign purposes and that of ready communication with the public. It may be a significant fact for those who are trying to figure out what attitude Mr. Cleveland stands in, with relation to Mr. Gorman and the national organization of of the party, that the ex-President is consulted about all important matters relating to the coming national campaign. Friends of the two men say that there is not the least friction or antagonism between Gorleast friction or antagonism between Gor-man and Cleveland. Mrs. John Dorsey, the wife of an industrious artisan, is the suspect. She is charged with having poisoned four husbands, two step-children and her mother and sister. She is now but 40 years of age,

He survived but a short time, and his widow was united to Albert Conkling, a tinner, and with him moved to Camargo, Douglas county, Ill., where he died. She then returned to this city, and in a short time married Joseph Sterret, a widower, with two children, and he shortly followed her other husbands to the grave, but not till both of his children had died. Took a Fifth Husband.

Three months ago she was married to John Dorsey and they now occupy a modest little cottage in the southern part of the city. She is said to have broken down rapidly within the past three weeks, owing to the sensational rumors which connect her name with the death of her mother and sister, but traces of former beauty are still visible. In height she is above the average of her sex, has piereing brown eyes, dark brown hair and speaks rapidly in ordinary conversation. She protests with the most earnesvehemence that she is the victim of circumt stances and is innocent of crime.

stances and is innocent of crime.

Less than two months ago the Dorsey homestead consisted of Dorsey and his wife, the latter's mother, Mrs. Taylor, her sister, Mrs. Nancy Wright, and a child of the latter, a little girl about 10 years of age. Six weeks ago Mrs. Taylor was taken suddenly ill and soon after died. Some ten days later Mrs. Wright also fell sick, being taken with vomiting, which continued at short intervals till she died. A Fatal Powder Administered

Just before she died she said to Dr. Big-Just before she died she said to Dr. Big-ger, the attending physician, that the last powder he had given her was killing her. He replied that he had not given her a pow-der, and Mrs. Dorsey interrupted, saying: "Oh, she means the medicine in the bottle." It soon became common talk that both women had been poisoned. The Coroner began an investigation, which impressed him so strongly that he ordered the remains of Mrs. Wright to be exhumed and the con-tents of her stomech analyzed.

Chemist Latz made the investigation and Chemist Latz made the investigation and found unmistakable evidence of copper poisoning. The coats of the stomach had been eaten into holes by the drug. After several days the body of Mrs. Taylor was also exhumed and her stomach turned over to the same chemist for analysis. The investigation is now in progress. Persons who were present during the sickness of the two women relate many circumstances that go to convince them that foul play ended the women's lives. the women's lives.

Mrs. Dorsey Talks of the Poisoning. She gave the names of several husband and said each had died a natural death.
"It is not true," she said, "that the lives of all my husbands were insured. Mr. Cemple carried $2,000 in the Knights of Honor and Mr. Sterrett had $130 in the Metropolitan. Neither of the other two carried any insurance at all. My sister, Mrs. Wright, had $1,000 in the Howard Aid and my mother had $90 in the Metropolitan. This was all the insurance that any of them

She said that her sister had been despond ent and had threatened to take her life. She (the sister) had also quarreled with her mother. If any poisoning had been done the sister was responsible. If Mrs. Taylor died from poisoning, Mrs. Dorsey will be arrested and the inquiry will be carried back to the death of her last husband and the two stepchildren. Mr. Dorsey stands by his wife and believes she is innocent.

A CLASH OF AUTHORITY

Setween the Treasury and Justice Depar ments Officials Over Chinese Arrivals. ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., June 27 .- The difference of opinion between the representatives of the Department of Justice and the Treasury Department regarding the disposition of the Chinamen found in this country who come in from Canada promises to be quite a bone of contention. To-day four Chinamen were before United States Commissioner Pound. James Low was present to urge the carrying out of the recent order of the Treasury Department to hold all Chinamer found coming into this country for deporta tion back to China. The commissioner held that the Celestials came from Canada, and issued an order remanding them back to the

The collector desired an opinion in the matter to forward to the Treasury Department, whose orders had not been recognized. Commissioner Pound drafted a letter, which was forwarded to-night. He holds that the Department of Justice is responsi-ble for the interpretation of the law and is not beholden to the Treasury Department.

Steel Works. PERSONAL TRUEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH 1

PHIENIXVILLE, June 27 .- A horrible acident occurred at the steel works at 11 o'clock last night by which John McGlone, aged 66 years, was not only killed but was literally torn limb from limb, his head having been completely severed from his body.

McGlone was engaged in operating the hydraulic lift which passes the sheets of steel from one side of the roll to the other. The lift on one side is near the wall of the building working near the wall when his clothing was caught by the moving machine. Before it could be stopped by the other workmen who were attracted by his agonized cries, McGlone was caught up, turned completely over and forced, head down, between the lift and the wall, the distance between which is only about four inches. The head was severed from the shoulders and the chest crushed so badly that the lungs protected almost a product the lungs of the lungs o

RUMORS OF A BIG ROBBERY.

The Sac and Fox Agency Said to Have Be Raided by the Daltons.

WICHITA, KAN., June 27 .- A sensation umor is current here to-night that an attack was made upon the Sac and Fox agency last night by an armed band of desperadoes, who are reported to have captured a large treasure, and to have made their escape with it. A United States Marshal, who arrived from Guthrie, Okla., after the rumor was first circulated, reports that he heard the same story at Guthrie.

The story which come to his ears was to the effect that the Dalton gang, noted for its "held-up" of the Santa Fe express two months ago, made the attack, and intimidating the people at the agency with drawn weapons, robbed them and made their es- withdrew, and Mr. Magee moved to elect by ers, who have been doing a big business with the Sac and Fox Indians since the latter sold their lands to the Government, were mittee for the honor and said he entered the position with a full knowledge of the duties. Just then C. L. Magee entered and nodded approvingly.

Mr. Rowand attempted to offer another resolution, but was ruled out until-the permanent officers were chosen. W. R. Ford nominated H. P. Ford for Vice Chairman, and the name of ex-Mayor McCarthy was mation, which was done. George W

Miller was chosen Permanent Secretary. Register Connor moved that last year's rules be adopted. Mr. Magce gave the second and it was done. Then Sheriff Mc-Cleary presented a resolution that all memt present credentials before July 8. and that all vacancies then found to occur should be filled by a committee of five, The resolution was unanimously adopted, and W. H. McCleary, George M. Von Bonn-horst, R. S. P. McCall, John Murphy and

J. H. Sheehan were appointed to take charge of the matter. The Declaration of War. Then it was that Senator Neeb inaugurated the war on the Governor by present ing the following resolution:

Resolved, That rule 6, regulating the call for conventions, be so clanged as to permit the holding of a judicial convention in the month of August to permit the nominating of Judges of Court of Common Pleas No. 3 for the year 1891. Someone moved to adopt at once, but under the rules it had to lay over for ten days, but just to clinch the matter A. H. Rowand presented another resolution that the Chairman be authorized to call a convention to select three suitable persons as candidates for the three judgeships in Common Pleas No. 3. The convention is to be held on August 25 at 11 o'clock and the primaries on August 22 from 4 to 7 P. M.

This was also laid over ten days, but Mr. Roward moved that the committee adjourn to meet Saturday two weeks. C. L. Mageo

A number of persons remarked that it was cold day for the Governor, but when Mr. Magee was interviewed he said: "Person-ally I do not know whether the resolutions will pass or whether three Republicans will be nominated for the judgeships. While Mr.

Judge Fetterman More Than Pleased. Judge Fetterman was very much pleased with the turn affairs had taken, and said it with the turn affairs had taken, and said it was just as he had predicted. He declared, he had enough men in the committee to spoil any attempt at indorsing the Governor's appointments. He said there was not any doubt three Republicans would be put in the field. He has all along contended that the agreements of the contended that the agreements of the contended that the agreements of the contended that the green are the contended that the green are the contended that the agreements of the contended that the agreements of the contended that the green are the contended that ment to stand by the Governor's appointees was not binding on the Republican party under the rules of the committee, and that any man who chose to bear his expenses had a right to make a campaign, and yesterday's action is into his hand.

Though some incentive may be found with which to conjure and fire the popular heart, the indications are at present that the average Democrat doesn't see enough in this season's election to bring him to the polls, unless he should have more than a sentimental interest. One of that party said yesterday: "We have nothing to fight for if the gubernatorial appointments are ratified by both parties. A dozen votes will suffice to elect the Democratic candidate for Jury Commissioner, as the case stands at present, and it looks as though everything else below one judgeship in Common Pleas No. 3 will be allowed to go to the Republicans by default, even the directorship of the poor.

A Big Majority to Wipe Out.

"Should the Republicans nominate three candidates for the judgeship, Judge Kennedy must get at least 3,000 Republican votes to overcome the majority that party naturally has, no matter what the issue may be, and if 2,000 or more Democratic voters stay at home his Republican support must be to that extent increased."

The weather is too hot at present to allow much animation to generate, but unless there is an awakening there is likely to be an exceedingly light vote polled. The pol-iticians of both parties are having the lead constantly, and they are too much
